Human Rights

Multi- and Interdisciplinarity

Position of the course

This course offers a broad approach to human rights from several scholarly disciplines, and an introduction to the role human rights (can) play in different social fields. Central concepts are introduced, as well as important theories and authors. The perspectives are critical, while remaining accessible for students from very diverse disciplinary backgrounds. The main objective is to introduce students to different scholarly discourses about human rights and/or mobilising human rights frameworks.

Contents

During the class meetings, experts in different disciplines offer introduction to human rights discourse and the way human rights are mobilised in their field of expertise. This includes law, philosophy, political science, anthropology, health care, IT and more.

Initial competences

Final competences

- 1 Insight in the possibilities and limitations of human rights as a discourse and a framework in different contexts.
- 2 Reflecting and discussing within the interdisciplinary field of human rights studies.
- 3 Ability to adopt a critical scholarly attitude to human rights.
- 4 Integrating cultural sensitivity and respect for diversity, pluralism and tolerance in scholarly work and in the functioning within one's discipline.
- 5 Insight in interactions between scholarly disciplines and in multidisciplinary questions regarding human rights.
- 6 Ability to mobilize resources of different scholarly disciplines to analyse and address human rights questions.
