Position of the course

This advanced course helps students to become thoroughly proficient in German and to gain a strong linguistic awareness. The course offers a profound scientific insight in the specific characteristics of literary texts and shows the ways in which literature functions historically.

In this course, students are stimulated to reflect on the concrete ideology-critical and text-strategical problems in texts, also from older periods (18th century). Starting point, methodology and analyses are now strongly theoretically founded. Themes change every year (revolution, emancipation, anthropology, ...).

Assessment form
Continuous assessment: Participation. End-of-term assessment: Portfolio (take-home exam on problems/questions on insight), completed by an oral exam. In the second exam period, new problems will be provided for the portfolio.

Calculation of the examination mark

End of term assessment: Portfolio: 50%, Oral exam: 40%
Continuous assessment: Participation in class: 10%
Students who participate in the bonus programme, can earn an extra bonus mark. Those with a failing grade for either of the two end-of-term forms of assessment cannot pass the course as a whole. If the final score would nevertheless be a mark of 10 or more out of 20, this will be reduced to the highest unsuccessful mark (i.e. 9/20). If one does not participate in the evaluation of one or more components, one can no longer pass the course unit as a whole and the final grade, if higher than 7/20, will be reduced to the highest non-deliberable grade (i.e. 7/20).
The extra bonus mark can only be awarded to students who pass the course as a whole.

Facilities for Working Students

1 Although attendance is highly desirable, working students may be exempted from attendance. Students can make use of extra learning materials on Ufora or of recordings of classes to reach the course goals. For those classes where active participation is evaluated (e.g., tutorials), you will need to complete a substitute task that demonstrates your attainment of the intended competencies. The substitute task will be communicated to you by the instructors.
2 The exam can be scheduled at a different time within the academic year.
3 You can receive feedback at times other than those designated, preferably through conversations (on campus or online), both during and after office hours, or via email.

For all information on these facilities, be sure to contact the responsible instructor or one of the co-instructors.
