Italian

Keywords

Sociolinguistics, historical sociolinguistics, contemporary Italian, Renaissance Italian, language variation, dialect/standard contact, standardization, regional Italian, register, CMC, written and oral Italian

Position of the course

This advanced course deepens students' understanding in variation in Italian.

The course focuses on:

- a) the Italian repertoire
- b) the (re)standardization of Italian
- c) spoken Italian

Contents

The course wants to familiarize the student with the current sociolinguistic situation of Italian.

The following themes are covered:

--> The varieties of Italian: standard language, neo-standard language, regional varieties, the "Italian popolare"; spoken Italian; pronunciation of contemporary Italian; sociolinguistic variation in the past; language histories from below; reconstructing speech from historical sources; Italian of the Computer Mediated Communication; the re-standardization of Italian.

--> During this course, students will also further develop their language skills.

- Reading skills: reading the syllabus, presentations and authentic written texts
- Listening skills: listening to the lessons and to the authentic audio fragments
- Writing skills: transcription of audio fragments; exercises / tests with open questions
- Speaking skills: oral discussion of fragments / exercises

Initial competences

To have successfully completed the courses Italian Linguistics I and II and Italian language proficiency I, II and III or to have acquired the necessary skills by other means. Expected language proficiency level: B2

Final competences

1 Language proficiency: the student reaches the B2+ level.

The student can understand long and complex texts, including technical discussions of linguistics. He / she can respond spontaneously in a normal exchange with native speakers. He / she can produce clear, structured and detailed (oral and written) texts on a wide range of topics and in particular on a linguistic topic. Can compare various points of view and options in an argumentation.

- Reading skills: independent reading of the handbook, scientific articles/chapters and other scientific sources (self-study; seminars)
- Listening skills: listening to audio and video clips; understanding the questions during the seminars / permanent evaluation moments (seminars; self-study)
- Writing skills: paper (seminars; microteaching)
- Speaking skills: oral discussion of a linguistic topic (seminars, microteaching)

2 The student correctly uses the linguistic terminology

3 Insight into the theory: The student understands the most important points from the content of the lessons and the scientific texts

4 Insight into the theory: The student can recognize the linguistic varieties that are discussed in the course

5 Application of the theory: The student can independently analyze a linguistic text (language variety) and can explain the most important linguistic properties of the fragment

6 Research skills: the student carries out an academic assignment on a specific theme for which he/she can independently find and consult sources, collect data, and present the results critically in an oral presentation and in a paper.

Examination methods in case of periodic assessment during the first examination period

Oral assessment

Examination methods in case of periodic assessment during the second examination period

Oral assessment

Examination methods in case of permanent assessment

Presentation, Assignment

Possibilities of retake in case of permanent assessment examination during the second examination period is possible in modified form

Extra information on the examination methods

Combination of continuous assessment and end-of-term assessment:

Continuous assessment: assignment, presentation, exercises (40%)

End of term assessment: written exam (60%)

Second examination period:

In the second examination period, students take only the part of the evaluation for which they did not pass in the first examination period (transfer of passed partial marks).

In the second examination period, the "continuous assessment: assignment, presentation, exercises (40%)" is replaced by additional questions during the oral exam.

Calculation of the examination mark

40% permanent evaluation

60% oral exam

Students who eschew one or more parts of the assessment can no longer obtain a pass mark for the course unit. Should the final mark be higher than 7/20, it will be reduced to the highest non-passable mark (i.e. 7/20).

Students who are legitimately absent on certain days of the practical need to catch up the exercises they missed out on at a different time.

Facilities for Working Students

Possible exemption from attendance with an alternative assignment after consultation with the lecturer-in-charge

Possibility to take the oral examination at a different time in the academic year

Possibility to make an appointment for feedback during and after office hours
