Position of the course

This basic course provides an introduction to the history of French Literature and to the analysis of literary texts. The course wants to present the general frame of reference as well as the basic techniques of reading. As a whole, this course forms the basis for later literary studies.

Exchange students may take up this course unit, provided they have the required language proficiency and initial competencies. No prior knowledge of Dutch is required.

Contents

This basic course introduces students to the major periods of French literary history from the 17th to the 21st century. Through a series of case studies, students are introduced to how to analyze and interpret literary texts, using correct French terminology. Emphasis is placed on major canonical authors. Students prepare the reading of the selected text. During the class, the teacher works out a comprehensive analysis, based on a discussion with the students.

Initial competences

Language competencies in French corresponding to the final competencies in French of the 6th year of secondary education ASO in Flanders.

Final competences

- 1 To be able to discuss a short literary text (novel, fragment) in an organised way in French.
- 2 Have basic knowledge of French literary history and be able to situate literary texts within it.
- 3 To recognise the importance of contextualisation (intertextual, historical, biographical).
- 4 To show the ability to think analytically and synthetically during commentary on texts. Be able to use learned literary analysis methods and terminology in the process.
- 5 To be able to reflect on personal reading with an eye for problems.
