Keywords

Aesthetics, Philosophy of Art

Position of the course

This basic course wants to enable students to acquire insight into the main problems in aesthetics and the philosophy of art and to reflect adequately on its major issues.

Contents

We discuss several important issues in philosophical aesthetics. We thoroughly study several key texts in the history of aesthetics (a.o. Hume, Kant, Schopenhauer, Nietzsche, Hegel, ...) and discuss their current relevance. Referring to concrete examples of artworks, we critically discuss topics, such as the normativity of aesthetic judgements, aesthetic communality, artistic creativity, the cognitive and social value(s) of art, the tragic and the sublime, and the hierarchy of the arts.

Initial competences

Final competences

- 1 To reflect theoretically on matters such as art, beauty, the sublime and aesthetic experience.
- 2 To be able to argue in an informed and consistent way about philosophical problems with respect to the aesthetic and art.
- 3 To be able to situate, interpret and understand original texts from the history of the philosophical aesthetics.
- 4 To be able to argue critically about important themes of and views on the philosophical aesthetics and art philosophy.

- 5 To be able to link themes and arguments from texts on the philosophical aesthetics.
- 6 To apply the studied theories on (contemporary) problems in the philosophical aesthetics and art philosophy.
- 7 To apply the acquired terminology faultlessly in an argument on the aesthetic and the arts.
