Extra information on the examination methods

Periodical evaluation: examen (30%): (a) written exam: exercises on grammar and lexicon, listening and reading comprehension, writing exercises; (b) oral exam: discussion about a relevant topic.

Continuous assessment (70%): grammar and lexicon exercises, speaking and writing skills, portfolio, participation, intermediate test.

Calculation of the examination mark

- Periodical evaluation (30%) and continuous assessment (70%).
- Attendance is compulsory
- All students are obliged to take part in the continuous assessment (oral and written) in order to pass in the first exam period. If they are able to justify their absence during one or more tests or classes of the continuous assessment, these need to be caught up at a fixed moment in order to be able to pass. In second session students will have to take an altered exam which allows to test the contents and skills of the exam as well as the continuous assessment.
- In implementation of article 76 of the OER, the student who withdraws from (part of the) non-periodical evaluations will be declared failed for the education component in question. Unjustified absence during the classes and/or non-participation to (parts of the) continuous evaluation will lead to a maximum score of 9/20, independent of the score obtained for the other subparts.
- When one has less than 10/20 for at least one of the components (either the total of the non-period-based evaluation or the period-based evaluation), one cannot pass the entire course unit. If the final score would nevertheless be a grade of 10 or more out of 20, this is reduced to the highest failed grade (i.e. 9/20).
