Position of the course

This basic course offers an introduction to the history of Russia, with the aim of giving the student a better understanding of Russian (cultural) history, contemporary Russian society and the contemporary position of the Russian state on the world stage. The course wants to enable the student to adequately interpret historical facts and events, and to link the past with contemporary Russia.

Contents

The history of Russia from the earliest times until today. The focus is on the formation of the Russian nation and state, on political institutions, social history and ideology, especially in the 19th-21st centuries, geopolitics, and the approach to non-Russian territories, such as Ukraine and the former Soviet states.

Initial competences

Competences acquired during secondary education; no specific starting competences required.

Final competences

- 1 To have a global and critical knowledge of the evolution of the history of Russia in all its forms from the earliest times until the present day.
- 2 To interpret historical events and developments in the history of Russia in all its forms adequately.
- 3 To solve problems by using a thorough knowledge and understanding of the history of Russia in all its forms.
- 4 To understand Russian cultural history, contemporary Russian society and the contemporary position of the Russian state on the world stage against the historical background and to determine issues and challenges against the same historical background.

- 5 To acquire insight in Russian current issues autonomously via news media.
- 6 To develop a critical attitude towards and reflect critically about (using) media sources.
- 7 To write autonomously short texts on present day Russia based on news media, hereby actively and autonomously pointing out possible links between the present and the past.
- 8 To reflect critically and comment in a constructive way on short texts written by peers.

Assessment form

Written exam: closed questions.

Written open book exam: open questions.

Evaluation of the process and the end result of the short texts (+ media sources).

Calculation of the examination mark

Periodical 65 %

Non-periodical 35%

The student passes the course when a pass is obtained for the course as a whole (even if an unsatisfactory mark is obtained for one of the components). If the student does not pass the course as a whole, the successful scores for non-periodical or periodical evaluation will be transferred to the second examination period. During the second examination period, the non-periodical evaluation can be compensated by means of a compensatory activity between the first and second examination period. The periodical evaluation can be compensated by an exam in the second examination period.

The deadlines must be respected. Failure to do so may lead to a loss of points.

Facilities for Working Students

Absence is allowed. Supporting teaching material is provided: the lectures are recorded and are made available upon request. The student must submit the assignments on time, though.

It is not possible to take the exam at another time.

Possibility of feedback at a different time: please make an appointment.
