Position of the course

This advanced course helps students to understand the difference between 'literature' in Western and in Japanese context. The course introduces them to the main Japanese authors of the different literary genres and their most important works. The course helps students understand the evolution of literary style and themes of the main Japanese literatures. The course explains evolutions in style and theme from a socio-cultural background and within a socio-literary context. The course also addresses the phenomenon of transcontinental literary influence.

Contents

Using extracts from the main literary works of Japan, the students are taught how the concept 'literature' in Japanese context differs from the one in European context.

Using extracts from the main literary works of Japan, an overview is given of the evolution in style and theme within the main literary genres of Japan. Also transcontinental influence of style and theme are illustrated. The students have to independently read some literary works of the Japanese tradition, and have to be able to interpret these works in the light of the subject matter taught.

Initial competences

- To have successfully completed the course 'Introduction to Modern European Literature' or to have acquired the necessary skills by other means.
- To have sufficient knowledge of English to read literary and academic texts.

Final competences

- 1 To be able to do a critical reading of the Japanese literature.

- 2 To understand the difference between 'literature' in Western and in Japanese context.

Extra information on the examination methods

Written examination with open questions and closed questions (on knowledge).

Open questions on the reading list.

The non-periodical evaluation will be a paper of five pages related to the literature of Japan.

Calculation of the examination mark

Periodical exam counts for 80% and the paper for 20%. The student has to pass both the periodical exam and the paper. When the student does not participate in one or more of the components, or obtains less than 10/20 for at least one of the components, they can no longer obtain a pass mark for the course unit as a whole. If the total score does turn out to be a mark of ten or more out of twenty, this is reduced to the highest fail mark (i.e. 9/20);

Facilities for Working Students

1. Possible exemption from educational activities requiring student attendance.
2. Possible rescheduling of the examination to a different time in the same academic year
3. Feedback can be given by email, telephone or during an appointment during office hours
