Position of the course

Research Skills II is situated within the Art History program in the 'Research and Practice' curriculum line. The course is the logical successor to Research Skills I, which taught the basic research skills within the art sciences. In Research Skills II, more specialized, major-specific research skills are trained.

Contents

To practice specific research skills, in Research Skills II the group is divided into separate, smaller working groups according to the chosen major (Visual Arts and Architecture, Music, or Performing and Media Arts) and specialization (e.g. Ancient Art, 19th-Century Art, Modern and Contemporary Art, Fashion). Each student chooses one working group with accompanying lectures, tasks, and assignment/exercise. At least one group is taught in English. Each working group is supervised by a separate lecturer, who explains the specific subject and assignment for that year at the start, so that a reasoned choice can be made. The number of places per working group may be limited to provide sufficient guidance and feedback.

Some sections in this subject are nevertheless organized jointly:

- introduction to writing a review, which is then applied on a majorspecific basis: each student writes a review of an exhibition (major BKA), concert (major Music), or theatre/dance performance (major PMK), attended by a group or otherwise.
- a multi-day field trip, with behind-the-scenes visits, and more informal exercises in looking at and talking about art together. Active participation by all students is expected.

Initial competences

This course elaborates further on the heuristic and methodological skills acquired in Onderzoeksvaardigheden (BA1).

Final competences

- 1 Collect appropriate source material from a specific question.
- 2 Develop and apply an appropriate research methodology and system.
- 3 Communicate orally about project progress, own research findings and difficulties.
- 4 Implement objectivity and critical sense.
- 5 Formulate a research hypothesis based on the heuristics.
- 6 Bring research findings to synthesis in a text after analysis.
- 7 Apply source citation in a correct and neat manner.
- 8 To write a scientifically sound and quality report on an art science topic.
- 9 Provide a substantiated review of an artistic product (exhibition, concert, or performance).

Calculation of the examination mark

Paper: 80%

Review: 20%

Students need to pass for the Paper in order to succeed. If one has less than 10/20 for the paper, one can no longer pass the course. If the final score would nevertheless be 10/20 or more, this will be reduced to the highest non-pass score (i.e. 9/20).

If one does not participate in the evaluation of one or more components, one can no longer pass the course. If the final score would be 8/20 or more, this will be reduced to the highest non-deliberable score (7/20).

Facilities for Working Students

Since active participation in the seminars, excursion, etc. is required, this course unit is less suitable for working students without a flexible schedule.
