Position of the course

This course helps students to acquire basic notions of Spanish linguistics and grammar.
Exchange students may take this course. It does not require knowledge of Dutch.

Contents

- General introduction to (Spanish) notions of linguistics
- General overview of the history of Spanish
- Phonetics and phonology of contemporary Spanish: description of the Spanish sound system, phonetic structure and prosody
- The students are also initiated in semantics with notions such as polysemy, homonymy, synonymy,...
- Syntactic analysis of the simple clause (blended learning).
- Level of the Common European Framework of Reference for languages : A2/B1.

Initial competences

Students have followed the course Spanish language proficiency I or to have acquired the necessary skills by other means. Starting level: A1/A2.

Final competences

- 1 To have insight into the basic structures of Spanish and its evolution.
- 2 To have insight into the phonetic system of Spanish.
- 3 To acquire basic knowledge of semantics.
- 4 To have insight into the syntactic analysis of a simple Spanish clause. To be able to analyze the simple clause at a formal, functional and structural level.

- 5 Be able to apply in a correct written Spanish the linguistic notions that are discussed during the lectures.
- 6 To dispose of a strong awareness of language and its role in human interactions and cultural production.
- 7 To be familiar with the basic concepts, and inter- and transdisciplinary possibilities of Digital humanities.

Teaching methods

Seminar, Lecture, Independent work

Extra information on the teaching methods

- Lectures: theory. Several topics are supported by videos on Ufora.
- Seminar: exercises (introduction to linguistic notions, semantics & syntactic analysis, phonetic transcription).
- For the grammatical and syntactic analysis the blended learning principle is applied: students prepare the contents at home by passing learning paths on Ufora. These include animated videos, tests and enquiries. The contents is then further discussed and practiced during the lectures.
- For each topic a set of interactive self-evaluation tests (incl. direct feedback) is provided on Ufora.
- Lecture-based sessions can be recorded and made available to specific target groups (upon request).
