Position of the course

The course offers a listening and speaking component related to language and translation practice. It focuses on the students' listening and oral (translation) skills, with a special emphasis on deepening skills that will enable them to function effectively in a professional environment: giving a coherent and smooth presentation, taking part in a debate and presenting content concisely and accurately. Oral translation exercises allow students to discover their potential aptitude for oral (translation) work (preparation for master interpreting). The course also aims to develop the social skills needed to work effectively with others: teamwork and mutual assessment.

Contents

Various activities are organised in this course unit, on the basis of sound recordings that the students may or may not have prepared in terms of content. These may include structuring texts, summarising them into a longer or shorter version, discussing a particular theme or also translating into either the mother tongue or the foreign language. The topics to be covered relate to recent social developments in the German-speaking countries and thus tie in with the 'cultural history' course unit from second bachelor. The oral activity will take place within a professionally recognisable format. An important component is the development of social skills such as teamwork and meta-cognitive skills such as intercultural awareness.

Initial competences

The final objectives of the various German study units of the second bachelor.

Final competences

- 1 Having a command of German at C1+ level or at least C1 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages for comprehension (reading), and writing skills. [B.1.2, assessed]
- 2 Recognising and independently interpreting language structures and language variation of the studied languages, with close attention to contrastive aspects compared to Dutch. [B.1.3., not assessed]
- 3 Having knowledge and understanding of the cultural and institutional context of the language areas concerned and for the intercultural relations and differences, and applying these to the interpretation, translation and production of oral text. [B.1.5., assessed]
- 4 Having a strong language awareness and developing a sensitivity to the similarities, differences and interactions between cultures. [B.3.1., not assessed]
- 5 Based on acquired competences, taking joint responsibility and being a team player in order to collaborate in the production of a coherent, audience-oriented, and accurate presentation. [B.4.1., not assessed]
- 6 Adequately interpreting, analysing, assessing and correcting oral communication, including messages of a specialised nature. [B.6.1., not assessed]
- 7 Independently translating a text of average difficulty on a familiar subject extemporaneously from German into Dutch and vice-versa. [B.6.5., assessed]
