Position of the course

The objectives of the course unit "Turkish: language proficiency IV"

- The main objective of the course unit "Turkish: language proficiency IV" is to thoroughly expand the basic knowledge acquired in "Turkish: language proficiency I", "Turkish: language proficiency II" and "Turkish: language proficiency III" and to establish the connection between the theory and practice of Turkish language use (oral and written).
- On the grammatical level, the student is familiarized with the verbal diathesis and the syntax of the complex sentence. The passive knowledge of grammar serves as an instrument for text analysis, which precedes the Turkish-Dutch translation. The active knowledge of grammar is applied in the Dutch-Turkish translation and in free text production in Turkish.
- In addition to the grammatical component, the students further expand their vocabulary to approximately 3000 words, they learn to analyze Turkish texts of average difficulty and further develop their active language proficiency, both orally and in writing.

Contents

- In the course unit "Turkish: language proficiency IV" special attention is paid in the grammatical section to the verbal diathesis (the formation and use of passive, causative, the combination of both and the double causative) and the complex sentence (the different types of complement clauses, relative clauses, conditional clauses and gerund clauses). The students learn to use all kinds of reference works to solve grammatical problems.

- In the section on text analysis, the students improve their reading skills by analyzing authentic non-literary Turkish texts. The translation is used to check whether the text has been sufficiently understood. A lot of attention is paid to the specific syntactic structures and the translation problems they pose. A number of texts are read and analyzed independently by the students.
- In the section on conversation, certain themes are systematically discussed. Speaking and listening skills are further developed through discussion and role play, among other things. Conversation on general topics is central to this. In order to develop writing skills, composition exercises are done on the topics covered.
- In "Turkish: Language Proficiency IV" the students' vocabulary increases by approximately 1000 new words.
