Teaching languages

English

Keywords

Introduction to foreign language training for adults

Position of the course

This course is aimed primarily at students who are interested in language teaching in general, and specifically in language training for adults in a workplace environment.

Contents

The course XFLT is composed of theory and practical sessions. Students first gain an insight into the issues surrounding foreign language training for adults, becoming acquainted with the relevant theoretical ideas to help understand how and why language teaching for adults requires certain approaches. Attention is then paid to the didactic elements of language teaching (organising a course, delivering a vocabulary lesson, approaches to teaching grammar, and so on.) Students will then prepare and deliver micro-teaching projects in the second half of the course. The micro-teaching will be delivered in English and in the mother tongue of the student.

Initial competences

The student has a sound knowledge of English (minimum level B2)

Final competences

- 1 Knowledge and comprehension of relevant theories from the domain language pedagogy, and using this knowledge in the analysis of language use in the context of teaching, and private communication. [B.1.4; tested]
- 2 Basic knowledge and comprehension of language teaching principles and use of such knowledge in the interpretation and production of texts. [B.1.8; tested]
- 3 Critically reflect on own thinking, learning, decision processes and actions. [B. 3.3; tested]
- 4 Adequately interpret written and oral communication, analyze, evaluate and correct written and spoken texts, including messages of a specialized nature. [B. 6.1; tested]
- 5 Effective oral and written expression in English in complex communicative situations, appropriate to purpose, audience and media. [B.6.3; tested]
- 6 Using the acquired skills to take co-responsibility for tasks and work in team. [B. 4.1; not tested]
