Keywords

organizational theory, organizational behavior, sustainability

Position of the course

The overall objective of the course 'Organizational theory' is to enhance the understanding of organizations on three levels: organization, group and individual.

This course also pays attention to how organizations can achieve sustainable performance by paying attention to well-being-processes and phenomena that take place at these three levels.

Contents

The overall objective of the course 'Organizational Theory' is to enhance the understanding of organizations on three levels: organization, group and individual. The course offers an insight in organizational behavior by offering cases, insights and 'evidence' on three levels: the organization, the group and the individual level. A broad but critical view on organizational theory and organizational behavior and the application in practice is an important goal of this course. Finally, the aim of this course is to examine how to deal with evolving organizations in a constantly changing labor market, while ensuring well-being at work, a pre-requisite for a sustainable organizational performance.

Initial competences

No particular knowledge required but introductory courses on economy, business administration, and work and organizational psychology provide a valuable foundation.

Final competences

- 1 The student gains insight in 'Organizational theory' and 'Organizational Behavior' as a field of study.
- 2 The student is able to reflect on organizational problems and events by making use of the knowledge and insights mentioned above.
- 3 The student is capable of applying theories to specific organisational behavior - cases.
- 4 Having an understanding in the management of organizations and the developments in the field.

Extra information on the examination methods

Written examination to evaluate the knowledge of and critical insight in the curriculum of the course.

When the student obtains less than 10/20 for the multiple-choice part of the written exam, he/she can no longer pass the course unit as a whole. If the total score does turn out to be a mark of ten or more out of twenty, this is reduced to the highest fail mark (9/20).

Calculation of the examination mark

When the student obtains less than 10/20 for the multiple choice part of the written exam, he/she can no longer pass the course unit as a whole. If the total score does turn out to be a mark of ten or more out of twenty, this is reduced to the highest fail mark (9/20).

Resit examination: the calculation of the final score remains the same.
