Position of the course

This course aims to enable students to read and interpret a current article linked to public administration and management and give a presentation about it after further academic research. Furthermore, they read and interpret an academic text linked to public administration and management and conduct desk research in academic sources to write a well-structured essay. The course is based on the 'flipped classroom' principle, which means students independently at home carefully prepare the theory and/or practical exercises through an electronic learning path to further complete the assignment in the two-weekly classes with guidance of their peers and the teacher. This course includes elements of internationalisation@home (I@H), I@H refers to international and/or intercultural learning experiences gained at the home university.

Contents
