Situering

This course is one of the eighteen research seminars that constitute the core of the master programme.

Depending on initial qualifications, students enrol for three or five such research seminars.

Inhoud

In this seminar students learn to examine normative issues regarding gender, sexuality and diversity from an ethical-philosophical and moral-anthropological background. The course introduces key texts in feminist philosophy and ethical theory, the philosophy of sexuality and intersectional and postcolonial theory. Guided by the research expertise of the lecturers, students will learn how to explore pivotal topics from a critical and interdisciplinary perspective. The course contains introductory sessions, guided self-study, discussion seminars and plenary exercises.

For students enrolled in the research master detailed information is available on the Ufora-site 'ReMa Philosophy General Information'.
